

THE TIE MUST BE MAINTAINED

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Discusses the Relations of Canada to the Empire

Toronto, Feb. 19.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier spoke at the annual banquet of the students of Toronto University tonight on Canada and the Empire. The Premier said the time was when the Imperial tie was not appreciated on either side. He showed from speeches of former Colonial Governors and statements of the Old Land that Canada's departure from the Imperial tie would not then have caused any hard feelings. Now all this was changed and the Imperial tie must be permanent. Canada was now independent in law and could get the right to make its own treaties if it asked for it. There were no grievances now. If ever the time came that there was a grievance and if institutions had to be changed they would be changed and that change would take place along the lines of union for general Government with autonomy for the different parts. Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Hon. J. H. Ross, J. St. John and Dr. Pyne also spoke.

WARSHIP FIRES ON FILIBUSTERS

Moroccan Situation Complicated by Clash with Rebels

Malaga, Spain, Feb. 20.—Despatches from Meilla, Morocco, announce that the Moroccan warship Sidi El Turki bombarded the factories belonging to French filibusters at Marchiola, destroying a portion of the works; Moroccan rebel forces responded to the warship's attack. This is a renewal of the incident between the French and Moroccan forces, which it is feared, may complicate the situation at Algiers, as Moroccans assert that the rebels are co-operating with the French filibusters against the maintenance of Moroccan authority.

WOUNDS WOULD HAVE CAUSED INSTANT DEATH

Coroner Tells of Wounds on Leslie's Body Which he Thought Could be Made With Knife Produced in Court

When court resumed yesterday afternoon John Nix again took his place in the witness box.

He said when he arrived at the fire it was some time until he could see the skull. It was about an hour afterwards that he found the body. Most of Leslie's stock was kept in the store. The oil was kept in the south-west corner of the warehouse. In the warehouse also were cases of canned goods and lard. The door into the warehouse had no lock, but was always kept shut. When witness got to the fire, warehouse was nearly all burnt, and the store was still burning. Leslie was a short stout man, weighing about 160 pounds. Witness was 5 feet 9 inches and Leslie was shorter. Did not make any inquiries about Leslie when he went to the fire. He thought if he had been in the building he would have been burnt to death by that time. He made an attempt to get the horses out of the stable. Witness said prisoner and Hoehme were not friendly. Did not know for sure whether there was $300 in the store at time of fire, he only judged by what had been there previously. Witness did not have any conversation with Hoehme after the fire at his store or his house.

Crown Prosecutor, Mr. McDonald, here asked permission for his partner, Mr. Cogswell to assist him in the case as he was not feeling well.

Corporal Joyce of the R.N.W.M.P. was then put in the box. He had arrested Lilge and Grams at Lilge's house and drove them to Fort Saskatchewan. During the drive Lilge told him that on the night of the fire he was out hunting a horse. He had also been out the Saturday night previous to the fire. On the night of the fire he saw a black fox 30 or 40 yards from his house. He went back and got his rifle and followed the trail of the fox to Leslie's store where he lost the trail and he went over to the store.

Some time afterwards the witness had driven to Bruderheim with Sergt. Pennycook and the prisoner to find no. Prisoner offered him $1 a day to work in his sawmill. Witness went immediately to work and worked for two weeks until he was arrested at the sawmill. In the house one night, witness saw that something was troubling Lilge and asked him what was the matter. Lilge said that the Heincklemans were saying that he had murdered Leslie. They went over to Heinckleman's and Grams asked prisoner if he was out that night and he said no. All the Heinckleman family were present. Mrs. Heinckleman said she had seen him out, and prisoner admitted that he had been out looking for a horse. Lilge and he were taken into Fort Saskatchewan together. Some time afterwards in the guardroom they had some conversation together. Lilge wanted witness to swear that he saw Hoehme give prisoner a tobacco bag with money in it. Witness refused, as he had not seen it. When witness was released, prisoner asked him to bring two revolvers and leave them behind the stove back of the guardroom, and he would get out. Witness refused, and then Lilge asked him to ask his brother to get the revolvers. Witness then reported to the police.

Cross-examination. Witness said he had a few minutes' talk with Nix on the night of the fire before they went to bed. Witness did not write any letters, but sat and smoked one pipe with Nix. When witness was called by Mrs. Nix he went down to the fire without dressing, and came back in a few minutes to get some clothes. When witness came home from church at 9 o'clock, the night of the fire, it was snowing, but when he went to the fire it had stopped. Witness had known Hoehms for several years. Witness signed the petition to have the post office changed. Leslie sent the petition away. Hoehme still keeps the post office. Witness went down to Hoehme's the morning after the fire and saw tracks in the snow leading to Hoehme's. Witness told Hoehme about the fire and said Leslie was burnt. Hoehme went down to the scene of the fire and gave orders for people to keep away, and told witness to arrest anybody that went in. Witness examined knife which was produced in court. It was the one which was used in the store for cutting cheese, and witness said he plained to him that he wanted him to put Leslie out of the way.

Leopold Grams was called and examined by Mr. McDonald. He was 21 years of age and lived at Bruderheim with his father. He worked around the store for Leslie. He slept at the house of Nix. There was a cooking stove and a heating stove in the store. The cooking stove was in the rear of the store. He saw Leslie the night of the fire, at the store. His father was there and Nix also. Afterwards Campbell of Star and his two sons were there. Grams went home and Nix came very soon afterwards. Grams slept on the floor of the kitchen, and Nix slept in the bedroom off the kitchen. Mrs. Nix woke him up during the night, when he went outside and saw the fire. He went to their stables and got the horses out. He then saw that the store was burning. The roof of the house was still on when witness saw the fire. He shouted for Leslie, but got no answer. He saw the body, which was lying near the stove. When he first saw the body the skull was still attached. The body was lying on its back. Nix sent him for the school teacher. When he got back at daylight, Lilge was there with several others. Hoehme came to the fire with them. Albrecht, the Moravian minister, was also at the fire. Witness went to Hoehme's on the way to Allen's and went upstairs and found Hoehme in bed. Hoehme joined them shortly afterwards. Leslie kept his money in a box on a shelf on the east side of the store. Two watches were hanging on the east wall. Leslie wore one watch. Witness attended Leslie's funeral on the Sunday following the fire. Hoehme and Lilge were both there. Lilge stopped him and asked him if he was working at Leslie's yet. Witness said no. Prisoner offered him $1 a day to work in his sawmill. Witness went immediately to work and worked for two weeks until he was arrested at the sawmill. In the house one night, witness saw that something was troubling Lilge and asked him what was the matter. Lilge said that the Heincklemans were saying that he had murdered Leslie. They went over to Heinckleman's and Grams asked prisoner if he was out that night and he said no. All the Heinckleman family were present. Mrs. Heinckleman said she had seen him out, and prisoner admitted that he had been out looking for a horse. Lilge and he were taken into Fort Saskatchewan together. Some time afterwards in the guardroom they had some conversation together. Lilge wanted witness to swear that he saw Hoehme give prisoner a tobacco bag with money in it. Witness refused, as he had not seen it. When witness was released, prisoner asked him to bring two revolvers and leave them behind the stove back of the guardroom, and he would get out. Witness refused, and then Lilge asked him to ask his brother to get the revolvers. Witness then reported to the police.

Cross-examination. Witness said he had a few minutes' talk with Nix on the night of the fire before they went to bed. Witness did not write any letters, but sat and smoked one pipe with Nix. When witness was called by Mrs. Nix he went down to the fire without dressing, and came back in a few minutes to get some clothes. When witness came home from church at 9 o'clock, the night of the fire, it was snowing, but when he went to the fire it had stopped. Witness had known Hoehms for several years. Witness signed the petition to have the post office changed. Leslie sent the petition away. Hoehme still keeps the post office. Witness went down to Hoehme's the morning after the fire and saw tracks in the snow leading to Hoehme's. Witness told Hoehme about the fire and said Leslie was burnt. Hoehme went down to the scene of the fire and gave orders for people to keep away, and told witness to arrest anybody that went in. Witness examined knife which was produced in court. It was the one which was used in the store for cutting cheese, and witness said he remembered using one like that for butchering steers. After the fire Hoehme showed it to witness and told him to watch it so that nobody would touch it. When talking with Nix at home the night of the fire, Nix told witness he was going to town the next morning. Witness had known Lilge for eleven years, and worked for him all one winter. When they were in the barracks together at the Fort, Lilge said to him that it was too bad that they got there because of another man.

Court adjourned with Grams still in the box.

THIS MORNING'S SESSION

At ten o'clock this morning court resumed sitting, and Leopold Grams, the man who was first arrested with Lilge, was again placed in the witness stand, and his cross-examination continued. On arriving at the fire he had called for Leslie, but when he got no answer, supposed that he had gone for help.

Dr. P. Aylen, of Fort Saskatchewan, who performed the post-mortem examination on Leslie's body was called. Dr. Donald was also present at the post-mortem. The body was taken to the Moravian church where the examination was held. In describing the remains as he removed them from the coffin, witness said there was the trunk with the skin and flesh burnt off. The head and neck were absent, also the legs and arms. There was a small piece of scorched undershirt under the armpit, which was removed by him. In examination witness found a puncture on the right side which was made by the undertaker. There was an opening in the thoracic cavity one inch by half an inch between the sixth and seventh ribs on the left side, three inches to the left side of the median line. The seventh rib was fractured and the seventh rib was charred. Another opening on the right side one inch in diameter between the fifth and sixth ribs, four inches to the right of the median line. Another opening five inches from the spine two inches by one and one half inches on the left side between the sixth and seventh ribs. Both of the wounds on the left side led to and pierced the heart. Such wounds the witness said would cause almost instantaneous death. The wounds were apparently inflicted from in front but the wounds had necessarily to be directed upwards to reach the heart. The wounds were made by some pointed instrument.

FATAL AFFRAY AT YORKTON

Farmer Shot a Neighbor, Tried to Kill his Family and Suicided

Yorkton, Sask., Feb. 20.—The following facts in connection with the terrible shooting tragedy at Canora on the C. P. R. line west of Kamack, have been obtained from Sergt. Janet, N. W. M. P. A man by the name of Schlitz shot fatally on Saturday, a man named Piese, and failed in an attempt on the lives of his own wife and son. He then shot himself with fatal results. The police and coroner are at the scene of the tragedy.

KING OPENED PARLIAMENT

London, Feb. 20.—King Edward opened the second Parliament of his reign yesterday with the customary ceremony. The absence of Queen Alexandra, the Prince and Princess of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and the mourning into which the Court had been thrown by the death of King Christian detracted from the brilliancy of the pageant. Otherwise the Royal procession from Buckingham Palace to the House at Westminster and the proceedings in the House of Lords followed the lines of those of previous years. The weather was cloudy but the rain held off and all points of vantage along the troop line route followed by the royal progress were occupied by cheering crowds.

London, Feb. 20.—A pointed reference to Ireland, contained in King Edward's speech to the House of Parliament, coupled with the announcement of the government to grant constitutional government to the Transvaal, brought these two questions immediately to the forefront in the debates in the House of Lords and the House of Commons on motions on the address in reply to the speech from the Throne. In the former House the debate was almost purely except that Lord Lansdowne assuming his new role as leader of the Opposition in the Upper House pointed out certain dangers in connection with the proposed changes and incidentally commented on the Agexion affair and the situation in the Macedonia warning the Government of possible difficulties arising in the near east unless Great Britain maintained a firm attitude.

IMPORTANT PRONOUNCEMENT BY MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE

Provincial Government Will Continue Creamery Business and Greatly Extend Scope of the Work

The pronouncement was made this morning by W. T. Finlay, Provincial Minister of Agriculture, at the convention of creamery delegates at the city hall that the Provincial Government intends to continue the creamery business in its present form, as established and conducted by the Dominion Government and to set aside a sum of money for the purpose of making loans under certain conditions to farmers' associations for the purpose of establishing creameries; and also that the Government intends to go into the business of handling poultry, eggs and pork; establishing packeries and cold storage depots for the transaction of those businesses on the same basis as the Dominion Government established the creamery business.

The Premier and Hon. Dr. DeVeber, Minister without portfolio, were present at the meeting and acquiesced in the statement of policy.

Another very important declaration was that made by the Deputy Minister of Agriculture, to the effect that he could think of no better man to conduct the creamery business of this province than Mr. Marker, who has had charge of the Alberta branch of the Dominion Government's creamery business in the past and that the retention of Mr. Marker in control is popular with the creamery interests of the province was apparent by the enthusiastic applause that greeted the statement. The occasion for these important declarations was the meeting in the city hall this morning of the delegates representing the twelve Government creameries in operation in this province for the purpose of sanctioning the transfer of the business of the Alberta creameries from Dominion to Provincial management.

There were present J. A. Riddick, chief of the Dominion dairy department, Geo. Marker, superintendent of the creamery business for the province of Alberta; Premier Rutherford, Hon. P. T. Finlay, minister of agriculture for the province; Geo. Hargrave, deputy minister of agriculture; Dr. DeVeber, minister without portfolio, and the following delegates representative of the patrons of the Government creameries of the province.

D. C. Gourlay, Dr. Finlay and Col. J. J. Gregory, Lacombe.

D. McCaughy, F. W. Fry, Earlville. A. S. Rosser, Wetaskiwin.

Hamilton Leslie, Sydney Ottewill, Clover Bar.

The meeting was opened by Mr. Riddick giving a brief history of the creamery business from the date of its inception and the taking over of the management, during which he quoted facts from the Government statistics to prove that it was on a very satisfactory basis, and that now that autonomy had been granted to the provinces and the time had arrived when the Dominion was impelled to withdraw from

PUBLIC LIBRARY AND READING ROOM

Sir: In the general shuffle of the offices in the city hall recently, what became of the reading room and library? The space formerly devoted to it was allotted to some of the departments of the city service. Has the reading room been shoved into some out of the way corner? Not that it matters very much, perhaps. The contents of the reading room, and the negligent manner in which it appeared to be cared for, rendered it comparatively useless to any but sundry small boys and an occasional wayfarer. But it is more on account of the possibilities of the institution, if properly equipped, located and managed, that one feels concerned. I should like to urge that instead of curtailing its usefulness in anyway, steps be taken to enlarge the library and reading room, making it more serviceable to the public and more creditable to the city. CITIZEN.

For Family Colds

A reliable cough and cold cure should be always in the house ready for use the moment the first symptoms appear.

It is always clean, cheaper and better to check a cold in the very beginning.

It is safer, too.

Shiloh's Consumption Cure, the Lung Tonic, has been tested for thirty years, and tens of thousands of homes in Canada and the United States to-day are never without it.

A dealer writes: "Shiloh's Consumption Cure is without doubt the best remedy for Coughs and Colds on the market. Once used, my customers will say no other—L. Eager, New Glasgow, N.S."

If it were anything but the best would this be so? Try it in your own family.

If it does not cure, you get back all it cost you. We take all the chances. Never you nor your dealer can lose. Isn't that fair? 25c. is the price. All dealers in medicine sell.

MR. GRIFFIN'S PLAINT

At the convention of the Western Canada Immigration Association in Winnipeg last week, Mr. F. T. Griffin, land commissioner of the C. P. R., created considerable merriment, intentional or otherwise, by depicting the cruelty of the fate which permitted other railways to build lines into the Canadian West and reap the fruits of the pioneering efforts of the C. P. R. The burden of Mr. Griffin's song was that the land holdings of the C. P. R. had been worthless or nearly so until the construction of new railway lines and the influx of people created a demand for this land which enhanced its value. But what Mr. Griffin did not point out was that by far the greater mileage of the new roads which have brought about this change in the value of C. P. R. land was constructed not by the C. P. R. but by its competitors. The C. P. R. holds the odd-numbered sections between Edmonton and Battleford. This land has doubled in value during the past four years. It has doubled by reason of railway construction and the prospect of railway construction. But was it construction of C. P. R. lines? If so where are the lines? This advance in land value has been due to railway construction and the prospect of railway construction not by the C. P. R. but by the Canadian Northern and the Grand Trunk Pacific. It is one of the ironies of fate appointed for the Canadian Pacific Railway by the Government which gave it existence that a competitive railway cannot be built in the Canadian west without increasing the value of the land resources of the C. P. R. And still the land Commissioner of that company has the effrontery to complain of the encroachment of the railways which are making business for his department and multiplying the value of land held by the company. The gentleman should recollect the story of the goose which laid the golden egg and be forever silent on the cruelty of the fate which permits a new railway to build into the Canadian West only by increasing the wealth of its great competitor.

NEW EDUCATIONAL ORGANIZATION IN ONTARIO AND MANITOBA

The Free Press of Tuesday contains an editorial on the needs of a vigorous educational policy for the province of Manitoba. The changes recommended are similar to those already being worked out in Ontario and would enlarge the organization of the department by the creation of the office of superintendent of Education. At present the work in Manitoba as well as in our own province is in the hands of a political head, called the Minister of Education, and the administrative officer called the Deputy Minister of Education. All others engaged in the work are separate units of the system. The change would mean the introduction of centralized technical direction connected with the work of actual teaching in both primary and secondary schools as well as in the normal schools and other institutions for the professional training of teachers; also in school inspection.

The administrative work of the educational department in a new country is necessarily quite heavy owing to the press of organization in the erection of new school districts. Much labor is involved on account of the inexperience of ratepayers in rural districts who are unaccustomed to our forms of business. Technical direction in the actual work of teaching is somewhat difficult in conjunction with administrative work. It is necessarily the case, also that no matter how broad the aims of a political head, he is necessarily not in touch with the practice and application of his ideas, because he is not engaged in educational work, and he should find valuable the advice and assistance of a technical specialist, as well as his services in construing his policy and aims. In such an organization the Minister with his advisory council would be the directors of general organization policy, the superintendent would unify and centralize educational practice in carrying out this policy and the deputy-minister would harmonize local and central administration. The Minister stands between popular demands and requirements on one side and the technical and administrative work on the other. The superintendent is his instrument on the technical side, that is, on the side of the teaching, and the deputy is his instrument in relation to local administration or the trustees. The important part of the work of actual education would necessarily be under the new office of superintendent and he would require to be a man in touch with the best educational theory and practice.

AN EMPIRE BREAKER

To detract attention probably from the overwhelming defeat of the party honored by its support in Great Britain the London Times has turned its attention to Canadian affairs and contributes considerable quantities of space in recent issues to alleged expostulations of the political situation in this country generally and in the Northwest in particular. While the authorities are not cited the subject matter and general tone of the article would indicate that our great contemporary has derived its information from the editorial columns of the Toronto News and its opinions from the news columns of the Mail and Empire. With two such inexhaustible sources of perverted and perverse imagery to draw from, something out of the ordinary might have been expected from the Times. But the expectation is not warranted by the results and where it might have performed a feat the Times has only succeeded in compiling a dignified re-haul of all the nonsense of which Canadian Conservatism has been the author during the past year. But reiteration is not counted a fault by a poverty-stricken party and the vespers of the Blunderer are bill-boarded on the front pages of Canadian Conservative publications as though an oracle had pronounced final judgment upon Canadian Liberalism and it was all over but the obsequies. To show, probably that recent disagreements with the corporation ex-leader of the party in this province has not alienated it from the Conservative party the Calgary Herald follows suit and even surrenders its editorial page to the space requirements of a Times' effusion. To enhance the authority and weight of the deliverance it is unheeded in with the uncorroborated statement that the Times is the "Greatest newspaper in the world." The Times will undoubtedly appreciate the compliment and reciprocate in kind. The Times begins with the mild statement that the passage of the autonomy bill "has resulted in the bitter antagonism, sometimes resulting in defection, of those old-time Liberals in the eastern provinces to whom the party had stood for distinctive political principles." Strangely enough the election returns from London, North Oxford and North York are all quoted in proof of this terrible disruption among the Liberals of the eastern provinces. In the same connection we are told "The matter has aroused much more excitement in the east, the home of political veterans than in the west itself where the population is new and wholly absorbed in material pursuits." That the matter created much more excitement in the east than in the west is undoubtedly true, but that is no excuse for the assertion that the degree of excitement is a criterion of the soundness of judgment or for the suggestion that the people of the eastern provinces know more or care more about the welfare of the western country than do the people who are working out the destiny of this land and who must stand or fall, succeed or fail, by the consequences of their efforts.

The Liberals, we are informed, tried to "Persuade the electors that the projected Grand Trunk Pacific would be jeopardized by the return of a party identified with the interests of the C. P. R." while the "Conservatives argued that the province if deprived of its lands, would lack the recognized means of inducing competitive railroads to enter the field." Just where the Conservatives used this or any other argument for "competitive railroads" has not yet been discovered. It is conjectured that even the solid American farmers from the Western States to whom the platform of provincial rights might have been expected to appeal strongly, gave considerable support to Government candidates, but it is not conjectured that these level-headed gentlemen probably knew what they were doing better than the excitable "veterans" of the eastern provinces or the exchange editor of the London Times.

"As to the foreign European settlers they can always be mustered like a flock of sheep by the immigration officials to vote for the powers that be," but the fact is overlooked that the twenty-five legislators for Alberta, the only "foreign European" gentlemen are a member of His Majesty's loyal opposition. After bewailing the materialistic sentiment supposed to predominate the people of the west, the writer proceeds: "Against this combination of materialistic instinct and political helplessness the only hope of political integrity seems to be in the solid British stock, represented at the one end by the early ranchers, being largely English gentlemen, and at the other end by old country settlers of humbler origin, but equally accustomed to clean politics in the land of their birth." For all of which the thanks of a few hundred thousand native born Canadians in the west is respectfully tendered. With all deference for the respect due the Mother Land and all appreciation of the splendid assistance being rendered in the development of this country by settlers from the British Isles, it may still be permissible to say that the native-born Canadians do not consider themselves the inferior of any people on earth, and that neither do they recognize the right or privilege of any British journal to represent that the hope of Canada rests on the accomplishments or opinions of any class originating outside the Dominion.

When shown the knife produced in court, witness said the wounds could have been produced by that. When shown another large knife by the Crown prosecutor, witness said that the largest of the wounds could have been caused by it, but not the others. No trace of gun-shot could be found. On opening the thoracic cavity, witness had found the lungs pressed forward and the space filled with clotted blood. In left lung was a wound two inches long, quarter in deep, in the right lung two small pieces of bone imbedded in the heart was torn from end to end in the heart was a wound two inches long in the right ventricle penetrating the cavity.

Cross-examination. Witness said Leslie was apparently a stout, broad-shouldered man, weighing about 160 pounds and 5 feet 7 inches in height. The wounds were evidently delivered with some force and the ribs would possibly be broken by the handle of the knife.

William John Foster, undertaker at Fort Saskatchewan was the next witness. He had found a piece of lead pencil adhering to the burnt flesh on the thoracic cavity while embalming the body.

Lydia Henkleman, who lives near the prisoner, was called. She was in church the night of the fire, in company with her sister and left the church about 9 o'clock. On the way home they met Lilge, but had no words with him. He was going north.

Daniel Henkleman, brother of the last witness was called. He was at church the night of the fire with his mother and came home about 11 o'clock and on the way home they also met Lilge who was going north.

Augusta Henkleman, mother of the last witness was next called. Lilge came to their house about a week and a half after the fire with Gramme. Gramme asked Lilge if he had met Mrs. Henkleman the night of the fire. Lilge said "yes." Lilge said Mrs. Henkleman knew what he was after that night.

he referred to the case the prisoner was cautioned not to talk about it. Lilge said he wanted to tell everything and witness told him to go ahead. Witness recited the story which Corporal Joyce had told when in the box. After meeting Hoehme, the prisoner said he went up to Leslie's store. A lamp was burning, and he walked in the door, which was not locked. Between the door and the stove Leslie's body was lying. Prisoner said he thought he was dead, as there was blood on the chest and face. Prisoner said he thought he might as well make what he could out of it, and started to load up two sacks with goods from the counters. He also took some money from a box on the shelf, about $100, also two watches hanging on the wall. Took one bag and hid it under the bridge, and the other he took to his house and cached it. Went back for the other sack, got frightened and started to take back the stuff, when he saw the store was on fire. Lilge took witness and the others to where the sacks were hidden, and they took the sacks and examined the contents. Further on they found the two watches and the tobacco bag with money in it. In the bag was a smaller one containing silver which Lilge said Hoehme had given him one day shortly after the fire, when Lilge was at the post office getting his mail. Witness and the others made a search at Lilge's house and found in an old engine, the portions of a burnt watch.

Cross-examination. Witness said when he arrested Hoehme on the 28th, he searched Hoehme's place. Hoehme had not come from the guard-room to assist witness in the search, but after he was released on bail, showed witness several places, and buildings, but nothing resulted from the search. Court adjourned for lunch.

"Empire." As such it aspires to the distinction of leading the public thought of Great Britain and of the Empire along the pathway to better understanding, more thorough appreciation and closer organization. But when it uses the prestige acquired by such professions to misrepresent the political situation in a distant portion of the Empire in which the people of the Mother Land have at best an academic or very remote interest it is sowing seeds of discord and dissension from the standpoint where these will germinate most quickly and produce the most disastrous consequences. Where it professes to preach unity and harmony, it is engineering strife and animosity and in doing so gives life to an influence which will be felt throughout the Empire, and which makes for disruption rather than solidification. The Empire exists by racial compromise, it can continue only by racial conciliation, and can develop only by racial co-operation. In this development no portion of the great domain which Britons rule will make more rapid progress or remain more true to British ideals than the Canadian North-West, but in the work of harmonizing the composite population of this new land in the out-working of these ideals, the hands of the workmen are not strengthened by a disintegrating influence emanating from the heart of the Empire, and impelled by the prestige of the London Times.

But the grand conclusion of the Times is perhaps the best selection of the program: "In the light of the recent elections, it is plain that local politicians destitute of principle can obtain their ends by the manipulation of the foreign European element, which is wholly untrained to political responsibility. In the last resort it is a question of entrusting the higher destiny of the Northwest to the 'Galiciana, Doukhobors, and the like; or, alternatively, to the French-Canadians at Ottawa. The latter seems preferable, control by the best intelligence of the province itself being 'out of the question.'"

In the light of the fact that not a single protest has been filed against the return of any member of the Alberta Legislature, we respectfully but none the less earnestly beg to suggest to the Times that it betrays the character of the 'local politicians' of this province and of the people who elected them.

The Times purports to be the leading supporter of the Unionist party, a party which based its claim to re-election on the ground that it stood for "Drawing closer together the bonds of

NEW RULES FOR CAR SERVICE

Regulations Adopted by the Railway Commission Regarding Demurrage

At a recent session of the board of Railway Commissioners the question of demurrage on cars was taken up and a new set of rules adopted to apply on Canadian railways. The rates formerly charged by the companies are cancelled and the new rules come into effect on March 1st. Following are the principle rules applicable to general traffic.

RULE 1

When cars are held under load or awaiting loads beyond the free time allowed by Rule 2, for any reason for which the consignee or shipper is responsible, a toll of one dollar per car per day of twenty-four hours, or any part thereof, shall be charged to, and paid by the shipper, consignee or other party responsible therefor, in addition to all other tolls paid, or payable, in respect of the goods carried, or to be carried, in or on such car.

Twenty-four hours shall be allowed the consignee, after notice of arrival, in which to pay the tolls or charges (if any), and give orders for special placing or delivery: (subject to Rules 11 and 15).

Forty-eight hours free time shall be allowed for loading or unloading (except as hereinafter provided). On cars placed for loading or unloading, before or at 11 o'clock a.m., the free time shall begin at 1 p.m. following; if placed after 11 o'clock a.m., the free time shall begin at 7 o'clock a.m. following.

EXCEPTIONS

(a) Twenty-four hours additional free time shall be allowed for unloading coal, coke, and lime, in bulk, and for shipments of lumber only, namely: shipments of lumber only, namely: boards, deals, and scantlings.

(b) Five days free time shall be allowed at Montreal and at tide-water ports for unloading lumber and hay for export.

(c) In the portion of Canada to which the Manitoba Grain Act, 1900, and its amendments, apply only twenty-four hours free time shall be allowed for loading grain.

(d) Twenty-four hours additional free time shall be allowed for clearance of customs, where the destination is a port of entry, making the allowance for clearance of customs, and for giving, placing or delivery orders, forty-eight hours in all.

Where the destination is not a port of entry, forty-eight hours shall be allowed for clearance of customs at the outside port of entry.

RULE 3

No car service toll shall be charged for Sunday or legal holidays.

RULE 4

Car service tolls shall not be collected from the consignee for any delays for which the customs officials may be responsible.

RULE 5

Cars shall be placed as to be easily accessible at all times during the period allowed for loading or unloading. At stations where such placing is at the time reasonably practicable, cars shall be placed so as to be easily accessible on both sides. Time lost to the shipper or consignee through interruption, either by movement of trains, or shunting of cars, or any other cause for which the railway company is, or may be held to be, responsible shall be added to the free time allowance.

RULE 6

If wet or inclement weather, according to local conditions, renders loading or unloading impracticable during business hours, or exposes the goods to damage, the time allowance shall be extended so as to give the full free time of suitable weather. But if the parties neglect or fail to avail themselves of the first forty-eight hours, or seventy-two hours as the case may be, of suitable weather, they shall not be allowed additional free time by reason of such neglect.

THE PRINCE ALBERT AFFAIR

(Regina Leader)

The three deputy returning officers who have been convicted of both wrongdoing and gross stupidity in Prince Albert County are not importations but hitherto respectable Prince Albert residents. Their wrongdoing is the single incident in the contest of which the Liberal Party has cause to be ashamed. The details of their crime are in themselves sufficient to clear the party of any suspicion of plot or scheme, and in fact go towards showing that the guilty deputies were not as intentionally and knowingly guilty as might be presumed. But the point is that these deputies were not imported crooks, and to any impartial observer the Prince Albert County wrongdoing is pretty conclusive proof of the falsity of the charges that there was a concerted scheme to win the elections in Saskatchewan by irregular and improper methods. Had there been any such plot or scheme no such stupidly foolish crime as those deputies have pleaded guilty to would have been committed. The trials at Prince Albert, prosecuted by two firms of Conservative lawyers, before Conservative magistrates, the ex-Premier's own appointees, and a tribunal of Mr. Donaldson's own choosing, disclosed the fact that three deputies together had grossly violated the provisions of the election law at the same time and place and in the same way. The trials not only did not show that the misconduct of these deputies was part of any plot or scheme, but on the contrary, the outcome of them is the strongest kind of proof that there was no such plot or scheme.

YUKON AFFAIRS.

(Yukon World)

As soon as the announcement is made of the date on which Parliament will convene, Dr. Alfred Thompson M. P. for Yukon, will make arrangements to leave Dawson. He wants to be present at the opening of the house. In going down to Ottawa Dr. Thompson says he is going with more data, and a fuller knowledge of the way to get at things than when he went last year.

A World reporter called on Dr. Thompson, who, in reply to several questions as to what he intended to bring up at the coming session, said:

"There are two great matters of paramount importance at the present moment; a mining code, and money from some quarter for adequate water supply. The transportation problem is an easy third for place.

"Regarding the mining code, I have preached the doctrine of a mining code for years. Our mining laws should be incorporated in an act of Parliament and made unchangeable except by that body.

"Well, sir, I think the time has arrived for having this done right."

"If a minister of mines is appointed, as the press reports would indicate, one of the first things I shall ask him to do is to assist in giving us a set of staple laws."

"In connection with the mining code I must say that the work of Commissioner McInnes and the members of the Yukon Council on the special committee is invaluable. They have secured a vast amount of data and right from the miners themselves. I feel that the result of their findings, will be nearer representing the consensus of opinion on this question than anything that has happened heretofore.

"The quartz interests of Yukon are becoming more important every day, especially in the southern end of the territory, where the industry has assumed large proportions. On my way out I hope to be able to devote a few days to that district making of the miners and learning from them specifically what they want in the way of laws for their silver and copper mines.

"Second only to the mining code in importance is the water problem. By the time I get to Ottawa Mr. Thompson will have made his report ready for presentation. In dealing with this matter last session, I went right to the fountain head, the Prime Minister himself, and he was so impressed with the importance of the subject that he at once consented to the grant asked for to make the survey.

"This year I have Mr. Oliver as well to appeal to and I hope his visit to the Yukon during the past summer caused him to see the importance of a water system to work our low grade gravels upon which the future of our camp so largely depends for its continued prosperity. I do not know what the government will do in this matter, but I am going to ask them to install a water system direct. If they refuse, then we shall have to discover some other means.

"The transportation question is one that every Yukoner is interested in and for the working of the lower grade gravels it is quite as important that we get our food stuffs and machinery here at reasonably low rates as it is that we should have an adequate supply of water and other means of working these gravels.

"In going down to Ottawa this time I have more data to work with than ever before. The Commissioner and the Yukon Council have gathered invaluable figures concerning the water supply and the mining code, and the citizens have given me a great amount of data concerning transportation rates.

DATES SET FOR PROVINCIAL FAIR

BATTLE WITH ARMED BANDITS

New York, Feb. 10.—A Fort Worth Texas despatch says that details have been received of a battle fought in the Sierra Madre Mountains of Mexico on Saturday between Juan Colorado's outlaws and the guards of a bullion train traversing the mountain trail. Bullion to the value of thousands of dollars was being conveyed on the backs of mules to the railroad for shipment to the States. Allan Smith, an American was in charge of the pack train with seven Mexican guards armed with Winchester. The train was passing through one of the wildest recesses of the mountains where the trail was extremely narrow and dangerous when an attack was made by Colorado and twelve followers. The outlaws opened fire from behind boulders and other places of concealment. Smith ordered the guards to hold their ground and use weapons, and set the example by opening with his Winchester. So deadly was the fire that Colorado and his gang were routed leaving two dead and one wounded. Colorado is slightly wounded. In leading the attack on the outlaws Smith felt mortally wounded and two men were killed.

In order to facilitate the transfer and make it perfectly regular, Mr. Riddick formally handed back to the delegates representing the different dairy associations the management and control of the creameries.

Mr. Centre, of Innisfail, moved the resolution which handed the business over to the province, and he was seconded by Mr. Mortenburgh of Tyndistall. The resolution was as follows:

"That this meeting, of delegates, representing the creamery interests of Alberta request that the provincial Government take over the creameries on the same terms as heretofore followed by the Dominion."

Every delegate present voted in hearty favor of the resolution and almost every one of them spoke in its support.

Following the passing of the resolution Mr. Finlay made his declaration of the Government's policy as outlined above.
